Required Communications

Statement on Auditing Standards No. 114 requires the auditor to communicate certain matters to keep those charged with governance adequately informed about matters related to the financial statement audit that are, in our professional judgment, significant and relevant to the responsibilities of those charged with governance in overseeing the financial reporting process. The following summarizes these communications.

Area	Comments
Auditor's Responsibility Under Professional Standards	Our responsibility under auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States has been described to you in our arrangement letter dated January 27, 2012.
Accounting Practices	Adoption of, or Change in, Accounting Policies Management has the ultimate responsibility for the appropriateness of the accounting policies used by the Center. The Center did not adopt any significant new accounting policies nor have there been any changes in existing significant accounting policies during the current period. Significant or Unusual Transactions We did not identify any significant or unusual transactions or significant accounting policies in controversial or emerging areas for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus.
Management's Judgments and Accounting Estimates	Alternative Treatments Discussed with Management We did not discuss with management any alternative treatments within generally accepted accounting principles for accounting policies and practices related to material items during the current audit period. Accounting estimates are an integral part of the preparation of financial statements and are based upon management's current judgment. The process used by management encompasses their knowledge and experience about past and current events and certain assumptions about future events. Management has informed us they used all the relevant facts available to them at the time to make the best judgments about accounting estimates and we considered this information in the scope of our audit. Estimates significant to the financial statements include such items as allowance for uncollectible loans and depreciation.
Audit Adjustments	We have six audit adjustments shown on the attached Summary of Recorded Audit Adjustments, made to the original trial balance presented to us to begin our audit.

Uncorrected Misstatements

We noted no uncorrected misstatements during our audit.

Disagreements with Management

We encountered no disagreements with management over the application of significant accounting principles, the basis for management's judgments on any significant matters, the scope of the audit, or significant disclosures to be included in the financial statements.

Consultations with Other Accountants

We are not aware of any consultations management had with other accountants about accounting or auditing matters.

Significant Issues Discussed with Management

No significant issues arising from the audit were discussed or were the subject of correspondence with management.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

We did not encounter any difficulties in dealing with management during the audit other than noting errors in the accounting records provided to us to begin our audit.

Letter Communicating a Material Weakness, a Control Deficiency and Other Matters

We have separately communicated certain deficiencies identified during our audit of the financial statements and this communication is attached as Exhibit A.

Certain Written Communications Between Management and Our Firm

A copy of certain written communications between our firm and the management of the Center is attached as Exhibit B.

EXHIBIT A - LETTER COMMUNICATING A MATERIAL WEAKNESS, A CONTROL DEFICIENCY AND OTHER MATTERS

Letter Communicating a Material Weakness, a Control Deficiency and Other Matters

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of the Center as of and for the year ended December 31, 2011, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Center's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Center's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Center's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraph and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses and therefore, there can be no assurance that all deficiencies, significant deficiencies, or material weaknesses have been identified. However, as discussed below, we identified a certain deficiency in internal control that we consider to be a material weakness. We have also identified a control deficiency and other matters that we would like to bring to your attention so that you can implement corrective procedures to ensure accurate financial reporting.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Center's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

The Center's written responses to the deficiencies identified in our audit have not been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statements and, accordingly, we express no opinion on them.

MATERIAL WEAKNESS

Financial Accounting and Reporting

Observation

Management requests us to draft the Center's annual audited financial statements and footnote disclosures. As part of this process, we identify and recommend various audit adjustments required to ensure the financial statements are fairly stated in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Because an auditor cannot be part of an entity's system of internal control, we believe management's need for our assistance results in a material weakness in internal control over financial reporting.

Recommendation

While a material weakness of this nature is typical of entities of your size and structure, we recommend management consider additional training to ensure that they completely understand the accounting and reporting requirements of generally accepted accounting principles.

Management Response

Management recognizes this as a material weakness given the size of our entity and the limited resources we have available to engage the necessary expertise in this area. Management has thirty years of experience working and managing not for profits and has a firm understanding of the accounting and reporting requirements for not for profits but recognizes there are some specialized activities and transactions that are beyond our capacity.

CONTROL DEFICIENCY

Segregation of Duties

Observation

During our audit we noted that, due to the limited number of employees, many critical duties are combined. A lack of segregation of duties can cause an increased risk that misstatements or misappropriation of assets could go undetected. We recognize the Center has implemented compensating controls to mitigate this control deficiency, however, the Board of Directors must realize that without increasing the size of the staff of the Center this will continue to be a control deficiency.

Recommendation

We recommend that, to the extent possible, duties should be segregated to serve as a check and balance on the employee's integrity and to maintain the best control system possible.

Management Response

Management believes that it is nearly impossible to segregate duties any further than what is currently practiced.

Recording of Interest Revenue

Observation

During our audit, it was noted that the Center was not recording interest earned on the funds on deposit in the Center's money market account or the certificate of deposit during the months of August through December.

Recommendation

We recommend that interest revenue be recorded on all interest bearing accounts or investments as it is earned.

Management Response

Management has instructed the bookkeeper to record the interest on the savings accounts and certificate of deposits when it is earned.

Bank Reconciliation Review

Observation

During our audit we noted that bank reconciliations are not signed indicating management review.

Recommendation

We recommend that bank reconciliations be signed after review to provide evidence that the bank reconciliations were reviewed and approved.

Management Response

Management has instructed the bookkeeper to present the bank reconciliations to the President for his signature on a monthly basis.

OTHER MATTERS

Financial Data Backup

Observation

During our audit we noted the QuickBooks financial data is backed up on a thumb drive and external hard drive weekly. However the backup is not properly safeguarded.

Recommendation

We recommend that thumb drives be stored in a fire proof safe or cabinet or be stored off-site in order to ensure the data is properly safeguarded and there is limited potential for data loss.

Management Response

Management recognizes the backup data needs to be secured and ideally would be best kept off site. Moving forward, the data will be placed on a thumb drive to be taken home by the President.

Payroll Reports

Observation

During our audit we noted the payroll registers are not signed off by the reviewer.

Recommendation

We recommend the reviewer sign off after reviewing payroll registers to document their review and approval.

Management Response

All communications including the payroll registers are opened and reviewed by the President, moving forward I will be sure to sign or initial the register to note my review and approval.
